KEY CONCLUSIONS

Potential of Russian-Indian relations not used efficiently yet

Potential of the Russian-Indian economic relationship is huge. But so far the trade volume is not very high. There is a number of problems that are hampered by trade restrictions, logistical and financial difficulties. Russian companies don't always understand their prospects in India, Indian companies don't always understand what they can achieve in Russia – Maxim Oreshkin, Minister of Economic Development of the Russian Federation.

Road map of common projects will benefit business orientation

We need to create a distinct map of what we must do together. In recent years, we've been building a knowledge-based industry. It is necessary to use its potential even better. We have a lot of pharmaceutical products. We must have common projects in this industry – Suresh Prabhu, Minister of Commerce and Industry of the Republic of India.

Growth rate of Indian economy is one of the world's highest

India is on a steady course towards industrialization, the growth rate of the economy is simply amazing: more than 7% a year. India has long reached the milestone of 2 trillion dollars of GDP and continues to move forward. This means that the strategy has been chosen correctly – Sergei Cheryomin, Head of Department for Foreign Economic Activity and International Relations, Moscow City Government; Chairman of the Board, Business Council for Cooperation with the Republic of India.

Cooperation between Russia and India has great prospects

The foreign trade volume between Russia and India is about $10 billion. By 2025 this figure should grow to $35 billion. Now the countries cooperate in nuclear power engineering, defense industry, microelectronics, scientific and technical research and other spheres. Building facilities to produce pharmaceutical substances in Russia may become a profitable area for the Indian investors – Vikram Singh Punia, President, Pharmasynthez.

I can see that Russia is doing a great job and is considering the possibility of investing in India. We are going to invest about $250 billion, that's 10% of our GDP – Suresh Prabhu, Minister of Commerce and Industry of the Republic of India.

The basis of exports to India is aircrafts, primarily military ones. I hope that starting next year we will be able to supply our medium-range MC-21 aircraft to India – Sergei Levchenko, Governor of Irkutsk Region.
