Moderator

Stanislav Alexandrov

CEO – Chief of Staff, member of the Board, Association of Lawyers of Russia

KEY CONCLUSIONS

The legal system must respond flexibly to changes in the economy

The law needs to be flexible and responsive to the new environment so as to facilitate the optimal development of new types of economic activity – Alexander Konovalov, Minister of Justice of the Russian Federation.

The rapid growth of the economy, of which investment is an important component, is impossible without a clear and modern regulatory framework – Yury Chayka, Prosecutor General of the Russian Federation.

New projects are changing the structure of the global economy, and the legal system should clearly and efficiently respond to these challenges – Stanislav Alexandrov, CEO – Chief of Staff, member of the Board, Association of Lawyers of Russia.

Russian jurisdiction is competitive

Russian jurisdiction [for the investment process, – Ed.] is incredibly competitive. <...> [According to the Russian Union of Industrialists and Entrepreneurs, – Ed.]. Most investors believe that their rights are well protected – 92% – Roman Trotsenko, Founder, Chairman of the Board of Directors, AEON Corporation.

Russian courts have a huge advantage over the courts of most foreign jurisdictions, and this is the speed at which cases are adjudicated. For business, the speed by which decisions are taken is sometimes more important than the decision itself – Kirill Udovichenko, Partner, Monastyrsky, Zyuba, Stepanov & Partners.

THE EASTERN ECONOMIC FORUM - 2019

Preferential Regimes for Investors: Current Progress and New Challenges

📅 4 September 2019 ⌚ 15:00–16:30

Moderator

Mikhail Orlov

Partner, Head of Tax and Legal, KPMG Russia; Chairman of the Expert Council of the Committee for Budget and Taxes of the State Duma of the Federal Assembly of the Russian Federation

Preferential regimes for investors have proved to be effective

Over a period of five years, we have seen the establishment of 20 ASEZs [Advanced Special Economic Zones – ed.], the FPV [Free Port of Vladivostok – ed.] regime operates in five regions, with 1,773 residents implementing their projects, 236 of which have already been completed and launched. Our residents are expected to invest around RUB 3.2 trillion in the Far East, with RUB 44 billion already invested. We also expect to see the creation of 129,000 jobs, with around 30,000 already created. These figures show just how much our preferential regimes are in demand – Sergey Tyrtsev, First Deputy Minister of the Russian Federation for the Far East Development.

Today, the ASEZ in Amur Region is home to 23 projects. Around 1 trillion in investment has been announced, and more than 5,000 jobs will be created in the future. We see this endeavour as a huge contribution, one that provides excellent privileges to companies who come to us – Pyotr Pak, Deputy Prime Minister of Amur Region.

There is nothing else in existence like the ASEZs we have in Russia. We have taken a close look not only at Russia, but the world, and this package of benefits is absolutely unique. It puts us in a position whereby we can proudly take our place in the international arena – Vadim Medvedev, Managing Director of Investment Department, ESN Group .

The state is taking steps to further improve the business environment

The most important thing about this mechanism [ASEZs – ed.] is something that isn't written in a single document anywhere, but which is clearly evident today. It is that people in various places and jobs, people in various ministries view the residents' or potential residents' investment projects as their 'children'. Every day, lobbyists and promoters look for ways to help residents implement their projects – Alexander Osipov, Acting Governor of Trans-Baikal Territory .
